frontofbicycle Gallery

Robin Ballard is an established artist, originally from California, who has exhibited her works internationally.

In her paintings, she primarily reflects on contemporary issues such as migration, the rise of China and global dependency on crude oil, seeking not to impose any particular stance but rather to provoke thought and introspection. Robin also enjoys the play between abstract and realistic representation, expertly navigating both to compose a body of work that showcases impressive diversity across various styles, subjects, and forms.

A graduate of the “Cooper Union School of Art” in New York City, she now lives in Basel and is a member of “Visarte”; the “Professional Association of Visual Artists” in Switzerland.
